To Wendell Phillips Garrison

«Roxbury, (Mass.)» Sends New Year's greetings and thanks W. P. G. for some apple butter. Has been invited to lecture in New York in behalf of Italian unity, but will decline on the grounds of health. Was glad to see that the Nation opposed the annexation of San Domingo, as proposed by Pres. Grant: Thinks that Charles Sumner was also right in opposing it. Sends money for some photographs, and tells how he distributend them.

‹Roxbury, (Mass.)› Says he can't attend the woman suffrage meeting at Philadelphia next week, because he has to prepare "a sketch of the anti-slavery labors of Samuel J. May for his biography, which George B. Emerson is writing ..." Was amused by W. P. G.'s account of the reception for Christine Nilsson, which she failed to attend. "I had seen and analysed the poetical effusion of T. T. ‹Theodore Tilton› in The Golden Age, which you sent to William." Thinks that T. T. referred to his wife in the fourth stanza. Mentions "a growing estrangement" between T. T. and O. Johnson. Tilton "almost sneered at" an article by J[illegible]son in The Revolution. Hopes that W. P. [London] Sends a copy of an article on the American Abolitionists, which is to be printed in the Eclectic Review. Feels that it is "not quite consistent with the truth." Says that the doctrines of Non-Resistance "are very imperfectly understood in this country ..." Outlines the principles of the English peace advocates. The British & Foreign Anti-Slavery Society "refused even to hear a letter addressed to them" on the subject of woman's rights. Suggests that W.L.G. write an article on Non-Resistance for an English periodical. Believes that J. G. Birney wrote the enclosed article.

	To William Lloyd Garrison	No.35

«Boston» The writer regards W.L.G. as a Moses going forth to plead the cause of the colored race. Will deeply regret his leaving. "Therefore we will offer up our Humble Petition to Heaven in your behalf, That the Lord would bless and prosper you in your Great Mission ..." Sends a dollar and a small his wife had baked for W.L.G. Sends his respects to his uncle, Nathaniel Paul.
